Managing Health and Safety in 2021: Don't Forget To Manage Hazards Beyond COVID - 19

Safety, Health and Risk Managers have largely been consumed with managing the catastrophic impact of COVID-19. However, all of the other hazards that we know how to manage still exist. We must work to increase our capability to effectively manage hazard controls in this new challenging environment, regardless of the status of viruses. We'll discuss strategies to triage limited time and resources to deal with immense exposures.

Dave Smith

Managing Consultant, Dave Smith & Company

Dave K. Smith is a safety professional with over 35 years of experience in serving a wide variety of industries. He has worked with employers in manufacturing, construction, hospitality/food service and public entities. The goal of his practice is to prevent injuries and illnesses and to control the costs of loss.

Upcoming Speakers:

July 9, 2021

TBD

A published author in Professional Safety, and NSMS Insights, he has also been invited to speak to groups ranging from the World of Concrete to the National Safety Management Society.

Dave is a Certified Safety Professional (Board Certified), an Associate in Risk Management and a Certified Safety and Health Manager. He is a Professional Member of the American Society of Safety Professionals (ASSP) and a member of the Human Factors and Ergonomics Society. Dave is a graduate of Cogswell Polytechnical College (BS Safety Management) and Ohio University.

Dave received the distinguished ASSE Consultants Practice Specialty (CPS) Safety Professional of the Year (SPY) award at ASSE's 100th Anniversary Professional Development Conference (PDC), held June 2011 in Chicago, IL. The American Society of Safety Engineers (now ASSP) recognized safety professionals across the country for their contributions to the safety, health and environmental (SH&E) field, as well as their contributions to individual practice specialties.
